BLUEBERRIES

In 2021, our family found ourselves looking for big changes. On a whim, we stumbled upon a blueberry farm during a search for property—and it was love at first sight. Though we had no agricultural experience, something deeper called us to care for this land, and we made the leap.

Since then, we've been restoring the land and ourselves through regenerative farming and non-toxic practices. By reconnecting with the earth, we found a way back to ourselves. Today we delight in producing organic Blueberries here in the Catskills.
