

2018 ANNUAL MEETING

& Harvest Dinner

Cornell Cooperative Extension and Farm Bureau of Delaware County cordially invite you and a guest to a celebration of the year's accomplishments. Local foods will be featured in the reception hors d'ouvers and in the dinner feast.

Wednesday,
November 7th

Delaware
County
FoodWorks+
27905 St. Hwy 28
Andes, NY

Hosted by:

Cornell University
Cooperative Extension of Delaware County

with support from:

Watershed Agricultural Council
watershed.org

DELAWARE COUNTY
CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Agenda

- 5:00 - Local Foods Reception (sponsored by Watershed Agricultural Council) Catskills Regional Harvest local food store will be open for shopping
- 6:00 - Cornell Cooperative Extension Annual Meeting
- 6:30 - Farm Bureau Program with remarks from President Duane Martin and Field Advisor Todd Heyn
- 6:45 - Buffet Dinner featuring Steamship Round and Handcrafted Desserts
- 7:30 - Guest Speaker, Anu Rangarajan, Director of the Cornell Small Farms Program - "What's Working to Keep Small Farms in Business" with panel of county, state, and local legislators as well as agency partners

Tickets: $15 per person

RSVP by 10/19/18

ANNUAL MEETING & HARVEST DINNER

11/7/18

RVSP Today!

See the enclosed slip for registration and payment information Questions? Call 607-865-6531 or email delaware@cornell.edu

Anu Rangarajan Director, Cornell Small Farms Program

Anu grew up growing vegetables and flowers for her family. Her love of horticulture led to degrees from Michigan State (BS, PhD) and University of Wisconsin (MS), in floriculture and vegetable production. She has been at Cornell since 1996, as statewide specialist for fresh market vegetable production. Her research interests include tillage, compost use and soil quality in vegetables and organic production systems. In 2005, she started a small farm in Freeville NY. As director of the Cornell Small Farms Program, her mission is to help farmers get expert assistance at all phases of business development, from start-up to growth to maturity.

Delaware County Food Works+

Catskill Regional Harvest (Shared Commercial Kitchen)
Gathering Place / Event Space

Delaware County Foodworks+ is located on State Highway 28 just North of the Village of Andes. Parking is located beside the building. Parking ambassadors will be on hand, but a flashlight is recommended for getting to and from your car. The Catskill Regional Harvest local foods store will be open during the reception.